Design Styles

Contemporary

Modern minimalistic and geometric design elements. Interest in textures and shapes prevail over added adornments. Natural or man-made materials are equally at home.

Transitional

A modern interpretation of traditional styling with careful introduction of contemporary equipment and technology. Moulding and fixtures aren't elaborate but do have some ornamentation.

Traditional

Formal and elegant architectural characteristics of American and European homes of the 18th and 19th centuries. Typically stained or painted wood-framed cabinets, emphasis on mouldings, trims and furniture elements.

Old World

Romantically inspired from Old European chateaus and villas. Aged furniture-styled cabinets are anchored by natural honed stone or distressed wood floors. Finishes are mixed, surfaces varied and period-typical mouldings and carvings emphasize the theme.
